DEPUTY ATTORNEY GENERAL Office of the Solicitor General

Working principally with the Indiana Solicitor General, the DAG will perform all functions of a legal counsel representing the State before Indiana and federal courts at both trial and appellate levels, including the Indiana Supreme Court and the Supreme Court of the United States. The DAG will focus on legal research and brief writing (including briefs in support of motions in trial courts), though some trial court discovery and trial participation is possible. The DAG will concentrate on high profile cases and constitutional disputes involving state statutes and other state regulations or actions, though typically not as lead counsel. The DAG may also undertake research and advisory projects on issues related to legal policy and will assist the Solicitor General in coordinating and harmonizing the OAG's legal positions and in deciding whether to pursue certain appeals. Compensation for this position will be approximately $50,000, commensurate with experience.

Principal Responsibilities

- Perform all counsel functions on behalf of the State, its officers, agencies, and employees in various cases, including trial and appellate procedures, motion practice, briefing, oral argument, and subsequent review, all in a timely, professional, and superior manner, and in compliance with office policies and professional and state ethical rules.
- Evaluate cases and advise superiors of viability of prospective issues before a case is initiated or perfected.
- Consult with representatives of state party/agency throughout cases and inform them of activity during cases.
- Consult with superiors on strategic, tactical and other major decisions involving cases.
- Consult with co-counsel and inform co-counsel of all significant developments in the case.
- Inform supervisors and media staff of high profile cases and developments.
- Maintain hard case files in good order, and facilitate the good order of the division files and records by inter alia, maintaining effective and complete communication with support staff to ensure the correctness and accuracy of electronic data and case files.
- Support the OAG by consultation and advice, participation in moot courts, reviewing and proofreading work product, etc.
- Supervise law clerks and interns as the need arises.
- Complete research and other projects as assigned by superiors.
- Research and draft briefs, including amicus curiae briefs, as assigned.
- Represent the State as counsel in cases assigned from other sections of the OAG to equalize caseloads or manage workloads.
- Assist other attorneys and sections of the office as the need arises and as assigned by superiors.
- Continually improve professional and job performance.

- Perform other tasks as assigned by superiors.

Principal Qualifications

- Member in good standing of the Indiana Bar, and such other bars of jurisdictions in which attorney will practice.
- Superior research and writing skills.
- Superior analytical and rhetorical skills.
- Strong academic record.
- Proficiency with computers.
- Familiarity with Microsoft Word and Westlaw.
- Superior time management skills; ability to perform above responsibilities and qualifications in short amount of time.
- Judicial clerkship preferred.
- Experience as an associate at a large law firm or a small firm with a particularly sophisticated practice preferred.
